QUALITY ASSURANCE AND MANAGEMENT OF OBSERVING SYSTEMS

PART III. QUALITY ASSURANCE AND MANAGEMENT OF OBSERVING SYSTEMS

CONTENTS

	Page
CHAPTER 1. QUALITY MANAGEMENT	III.1-1
1.1 General.....	III.1-1
1.2 The ISO 9000 family, ISO/IEC 17025, ISO/IEC 20000 and the WMO Quality Management Framework	III.1-2
1.3 Introduction of quality management.....	III.1-6
1.4 Accreditation of laboratories	III.1-8
1.5 Quality management tools	III.1-9
1.6 Factors affecting data quality.....	III.1-9
1.7 Quality assurance (quality control)	III.1-12
1.8 Performance monitoring	III.1-14
1.9 Data homogeneity and metadata	III.1-14
1.10 Network management	III.1-16
References and further reading	III.1-18
CHAPTER 2. SAMPLING METEOROLOGICAL VARIABLES	III.2-1
2.1 General.....	III.2-1
2.2 Time series, power spectra and filters	III.2-3
2.3 Determination of system characteristics	III.2-11
2.4 Sampling	III.2-12
References and further reading	III.2-16
CHAPTER 3. DATA REDUCTION	III.3-1
3.1 General.....	III.3-1
3.2 Sampling	III.3-2
3.3 Application of calibration functions	III.3-3
3.4 Linearization	III.3-3
3.5 Averaging	III.3-3
3.6 Related variables and statistics.....	III.3-4
3.7 Corrections.....	III.3-4
3.8 Quality management	III.3-5
3.9 Compiling metadata	III.3-5
References and further reading	III.3-6
CHAPTER 4. TESTING, CALIBRATION AND INTERCOMPARISON.....	III.4-1
4.1 General.....	III.4-1
4.2 Testing.....	III.4-2
4.3 Calibration	III.4-4
4.4 Intercomparisons	III.4-6
Annex 4.A. Procedures of WMO global and regional intercomparisons of instruments.....	III.4-8
Annex 4.B. Guidelines for organizing WMO intercomparisons of instruments.....	III.4-9
Annex 4.C. Reports of international comparisons conducted under the auspices of the commission for instruments and methods of observation.....	III.4-14
References and further reading	III.4-16

CHAPTER 5. TRAINING OF INSTRUMENT SPECIALISTS	III.5-1
5.1 Introduction.....	III.5-1
5.2 Appropriate training for operational requirements.....	III.5-1
5.3 Some general principles for training	III.5-2
5.4 The training process.....	III.5-6
5.5 Resources for training	III.5-11
Annex. Regional training centres	III.5-15
References and further reading	III.5-16
